Would be great, if TT could solve some special vista (and with this Windows 7 too) related problems.

E.g. that you have to run the game in admin mode.

If you run the game as administrator (and the configtool as admin before), it saves all necessary login information.

But if you run it as a user, it doesnt save password and preferred server....

That's on our todo already. I don't know the details since I don't run Vista/Win7, but there are several items on our todo list relating to this.

The odd part is not everyone has to do it, on my other two partitions (which are vista and win 7) I don't have to run Renegade in admin. But on my new hard drive, I still don't have to run it in admin but I have to run it in XP compatibility, have to do it with the WWConfig.exe as well if any of the in game settings are going to be changed.
