Twitter is such a pathetic system

If I was to have one and wasted my time on that thing I would definately update it with things like "Currently driving" "Currently at a red light" "Currently in the ambulance" "Currently hitting on the nurse"

TBH what has this become when people think other people actually give a shit about what they're doing throughout the day.

Whiney blogs on roids.

Twitter is the most retarded idea out there. It's like facebook except every aspect is stripped down and you only have the status posting thing.

It's also another excuse for people to blab on about everyday mundane tasks that no one gives a shit about .
