This is a crazy idea that I have but how about making categories in this forum, for example,

Mod Release Forum:
-->Skins
-->Models
-->Reticles
-->Mods
-->Hacks
-->Advantage Skins

Rather than just oww hey this is the Mod Release Forum find the random stuff in uncategoriezed order....

If FudForums allow subforums, then I'm all for it.

I doubt it, lol

It would be even better if they could allow topic prefixes that you can toggle to show/hide/search.

As far as google could tell me, fudforums does allow subforums. But I don't have access to the functions to create them.

However, the subforums would have to be limited to skins, models, scripts, other probably...

Oh, and that would mean a lot of work for me to re class them :S.

I actually like the Mod releae forum they way it is as the models, skins, reticles etc. mix in together.
It would be cool to have search and hide feature like a000clown said.

everyone needs to stop arguing over the advantage skin topc.. ffs everyone who starts to get in the argument, mods and regular users included, look like idiots in my opinion. who gives a crap if the skin is easier to see or not, if you can't see w/e without the skin then you need glasses.

I don't look at any skin as an adv skin unless it's blatantly clear that it is. Just a light green recolor in paint of a character I'd consider and advantage skin. Something that takes you 30+ minutes to do, and actually put some creativity into it is legit to me. And how it should be..

This is the first place I look for new skins. Got some awesome skinners here. Would be easier to find things if i was broken out. Also don't need a separate section for advantage skins. What someone see's as an advantage someone else might not.

Calm down. You're entitled to your opinion. We don't need a section called "Advantage Skins", in fact, we pretty much already have that already - though it's not named "Advantage Skins". It's called "Heated Discussions and Debates" (which can lead to flame-fests/flaming arguments).

I personally think we don't need a separate sub-forum here for different releases. A "[<prefix>]" prefix affixed to the beginning of the topic title suffices 'nuf for us to tell. Most of the time I don't even look at the skin releases because I find them ugly. :/

You, sir, are the fool here. You are stating your opinion, not a fact. If it was a fact then everyone would follow it, but since everyone has a different view on advantage skins, it is obviously not fact. I suggest you read the meaning to the word "Opinion" before you make such a comment.

On topic, I think that the idea for different sections is a good idea, although I agree that it should be set to only 3 or 4 topics, as having one for Guns, Characters, HUDs, Reticles, Vehicles, Buildings, and Miscellaneous is too much in my opinion.
