go into 3rd person when repairing your own vehicle on the battle field because it increases your range of vision

Also use 3rd person to look around corners and while hiding behind rocks. You can see them, but they can't see you!

lol.....no kidding..... go into 3rd person to see around corners.... its the best way to sneak into an undefended gdi base where you don't want to get seen.... but if you want the best way to increase your range of sight simple move from side to side while repairing so you don't get your vehicle stolen

To C4.....Though a good tactic it may be , if you recall (you were GDI, i was NOD)I got past 3 snipers ,2 personal ion's, 1 Gunner, 2 med tanx (yours included) and 2 mammoths.....stole me a fresh med tank.However i was an invisible "Black Hand" ,and singled you out. It's a sad time when you have to have a tactic for gaurding your tank against your fellow "team mates".Tank stealers r weak!

I almost always use 3rd person, except when shooting. I've learned not to plant c4 on MCTs in 3rd person, though

To creepx, to be honest no i don't recall every little insignificant thing such as that, perhaps it may be important to you but it is of little consequence to me if you steal yourself a med. tank. Infact its all the same i get to kick the heck out of yet another nod player. So woo hoo all the better for you and thanks for the extra target practice
