In that case your skins pretty basic, seems like a copy and paste type skin

I like it, I will look great on a map like Glacier.

Also the technical aspects behind the skin are not bad either. At least he knows to leave the detail in instead of completely pasting over everyting lol.

You dumbass piece of shit.
Oh yeah? well, if it has been done before it doesn't mean it's stolen. Googling for an icy texture and then aplying it in photoshop making the layer setting Overlay gives the same effect.

MasterEvolution wrote on Wed, 06 May 2009 09:16lol you did not make this, you ripped this texture straight from someones vech texture pack on game-maps.net. Maybe changed it just slightly but not enought to be called your own.

PROOF

You dumbass piece of shit.
You sure about that?
This texture pack looks like the person who did it selected the whole thing and changed the hue on everything including the windows and that. (no offense intended)

Kill's skin on the over hand has changed only the paintwork. The windows and that are left the same.

Subject: Re: my first skin ever
Posted by The Party on Wed, 06 May 2009 15:42:27 GMT

That is what I said the texture is the same however it just look modified.

Some people have funny hobbies
Event a: Sees a skin
Event b: Hunts the internetzz to see if he ripped said skin...

Doesn't looked ripped to me, looks like much of a better job.

Moron.

Get the fuck off this forum, if you are going to accuse people of stealing stuff and calling them names, without seeing it yourself (besides a screenshot which only shows the MRLS front).

It's totally different. Compare this with eachother:

Altzan's MRLS

Kill's MRLS

Reporting someone saying he's trying to start a flame war, while it's obviously yourself doing that (see the bottom of your first message), ain't the way to go...

Dang, I didn't even realize my tutorial was finally posted.

And I agree that his skin is NOT a copy of mine. My texture is more detailed but his is correctly placed (only the paintjob, not the windows and such).
I like the skin, could use a bit more detail though.

Doesn't work on this kind of HUD... Only works for the default Renegade HUD, which is already partly disabled when you use this type of HUD.
