We were playing on the field map, I was nod and 1 minute was left. We were winning like heck and we was cheering untill we heard a ion becon alarm go off. Nobody cared and ignored it. On the final second, it went of in out tib factory and they beat us by a single point. This was a sad day in history..... [April 22, 2002: Message edited by: jindi007]

I have a sadder story, i was on city flying as Nod and i took out the WF and PP... We didn't lose a single building... did we win that match? NO! because the rest of my team was so inlove with the choopers that they kept buying and losing them to the enemy, and so we lost on points. god, i wish this craze would go away already.

Aye, on Volcano, the airstrip, hand of nod, barrack, and war factory were all down. 1 minute left, my team, Nod, was ahead by only 100 points! I yelled for everyone to back off and get minigunners but noooo, they decide to engy rush!! All get slaughtered and at the final SECOND, they got ahead by 4 points...
