I have similar problems with copter ascend/descend controls... you're suppose to use jump/crouch, but my crouch is bound to space--so instead of descending it ascends.I suspect your "Q" problem might have something to do with something you may have bound to that key.

I lost all the "2" commands somehow and that's how I fixed it.

The doentation with the patch specified that jump would be up and crouch would be down... thus my space should be down because it's assigned to crouch.Why don't you take your d*ck out of your mouth before posting to a forum?
