When you have enough money to buy a Chem Warrior get a bunch and charge through the Volcano and Go for the PP. The GDI will be surprised as some Chem Warrior manage to penetrate their defence line. Drop all the C4 on MCT and have at least one guarding the other while they Chem the MCT.

Ah the good old Chem trooper rush. These guys are the overlooked building destroyers. A couple in one of your buildings can really do some damage.

Chem troopers are good, trouble is though in an average team game its hard to get a few people together to do it. Everyone cannot seem to be bothered with the Chem once they can afford vehicles.....

It only takes one chem trooper to destroy buildings, all you have to do is run inside, throw down the C4, and shoot off two clips. That's enough.

Yeah, but if you do that a huge cone of chemspray will be streaming out of the PP wall, probably drawing the attention of every single engineer in the base, thus foiling your plan.

I use the chem warrior rush on almost every game without defenses (when i'm Nod). They can come into the base through places you wouldn't expect normal infantry to pass, like the big tib field on Volcano. And you know how annoying it is to kill little engies that run around the inside of the building while setting mines on the MCT Just run around with the Chem Warrior while shooting the MCT

I've seen that done before you'd be surprised how wide open a base can be. The OPFOR doesn't think to have base defense....

Out of 20 times i have shouted "chem warriors meet at airstrip" only twice has this really happened. Once it did though, we kicked the enemy's ass. Yea in volcano, just run into a building and chem the MCT like crazy, much better then a flame tank shooting its exterior. 4 chem troopers shooting an exterior of a building works well too.
