It's most likely the "x" after Renegade I know that most schools filter out words that have an x at the end of them so there really isn't anything they can do about it.

Plus you should be in school learning! Not looking at Ren-x

It's the X. I have a friend in a country that blocks pornography, and the Renegade X site there was not working until he reported to that authority that it was not porn.

Well you could try to visit the forum by using a proxy like www.hidemyass.com or something

Some schools haven't blocked all proxies. My school didn't blocked this one so i could visit youtube/googlevid

Then he should either

- 1) Apply for the rating to be re-evaluated
 - 2) Use a proxy

Errr yeah... if the filter detects anything with the letter "x" in it as porn I'd assume it would do the same for anything with "ass" in it also

The site was actually blocked at my college for a while too which was annoying when I was trying to use it for art examples in my design classes. Then one day it wasn't blocked any more, and the peasants rejoiced.

Try greensurf008.info.

Lol, i also have my work webfilter describe Ren-X as pornography. It also said my attempt to access that website had been logged!! Security hasnt come to take we away yet!! Ha ha.

Try an ssl enabled proxy like <http://www.libertybell.biz/> - or just google "ssl proxy" and pick one. These add a little extra value than the standard proxy websites as they remove any comments from the site header which will allow the filter to identify its content.

My company uses Webroot SSAS which blocks almost everything - literally 90% of the web is blocked. Plus the fact they refuse to update from Win2000 and im stuck with basic IE6 - bah, i digress. Even these forums are banned because its described as "gaming" and/or "message board". But i can beat that with the ssl filter. Although, Jelly-Server.com isnt banned which is almost identical to this site - so i dont get at all!

It works with Ren-X anyway.
