Make it your self. We are not here to make you stuff. You want something, you make it.
Sorry man, but its just like that.

I'm not 100% sure. But best thing would be is to try making it on your own. Ask questions here and they will help. When i was sticking with coding, i didnt know it at all so i just tried to make a code by asking question of how stuff will be done and they helped me and my script/code was succesful

You know some people like me and him don't have that skill to do stuff like that.

I'm still learning to code a little bit and I'm still learning stuff about Level Editor that i did not know, all in all though most of us would love to make a model or a map or code, but we just can't, i still try to make maps but i fail but i don't give up.

Edit: here is a site you can get most of the tools you will need..
