THats right. Act like a n00bs. If your a hotwire/engi, sneak into an enemy MCT if it has full health. Then keep repairing it. People will think your a n00b and your trying to kill it with a repair gun. Then when no one is there, plant the c4 and laugh

This does work sometimes. I ran to the airstrip on Volcano and was repairing everything I saw... then I went to work on the prox mines at the door... then I replaced em with mine... no one seemed to notice untill the Airstrip was destroyed.

If I saw a n00b fixing my AGT I would stand there until it is full health and then kill him

I like that trick I usually toss a few of my c4 in a pile of theirs. They disarm a few of theirs. usually if someone sees me disarming they run up to try and kill me and run into the c4 pile only to find my mines the hard way. One dude actually accused me of cheating and converting their c4 into ours. N BZ, You gotta Luv them!!!

Only works if they are all noobs. and you will lose a lot of points if you repair an enemy building.

Yesterday when I was plating I tried "acting like a n00b" and using F2 the enemy who had stolen one of our tanks said "fix me now you n00b" so I started fixing him for about a second then I started fixing him with C4 and Detonated it while starting to fix it again and this time HE got out and started fixing it with me, when it was nearly full health I thanks him by running him over, he didn't even notice I had taken back the tank so I took advantage of him (he even called me a n00b when I done it, so I corrected about who the real n00b was)
