I dont know if this has been said before but by spamming on the radio commands can prove very usefull to the enemy and can often make your team lose...sound strange? read on....I was playing today and the enemy had just deployed a beacon and I was trying to listen to the ticking o find the beacon BUT I couldnt find it due to ever n00b spamming "Defend the base" (CTRL + ALT and 6) as many times as they could this went on untill the Ion Cannon came down and bye bye Tiberian Refinery, but if my n00bish teammates had just STFU I would have probably found the beacon and may have disarmed it, another thing WHY tell us to disarm the beacon? anyoneout side base wont come all the way back and any free units will change to an eny/tech and techs will seek out the beacons as soon as they can, you are just ****ing things up. Another thing when we are attacked after the message (example) GDI PP under attack WFT do n00bs spam 101 times Defend the Power plant? are people so think that they dont understand that that we herd the firs time or someting?.... i got more to say but I need to go now so ill post more later.

Super Dan actually has a point. By radio spamming you might lose a vital "typed" message in the flood. It would be pretty stupid if somebody found the beacon and "radioed" it in. Then some lamer spamming world, what good is this please tell me. quote: Corsair_734 You seem to be the anti-conversational type...

Yeah, I really hate radio spamming also. It's so frustrating when you are trying to give orders to people on the same team as you. Only to have your commands blotted out by one or two players. "I need repairs""I need repairs""I need repairs"Or"Building needs repairs""Building needs repairs""Building needs repairs"Over and over. Then you ask the person to please stop and they come back with some witty remark like. "Make me you n00b." I think Westwood should address this issue. Since it is fairly frustrating.

Well i have my own way of telling something. When a building is a little damaged i say Building needs repair! When it's really damaged i say Building needs repair! Building needs repair! And when it's in the dead zone i almost spam Building needs repair Building needs repair Building needs repair But it seems to get ppl's attention And when there is an incoming tank i say where it is and what it is, then i go Defend the base Destroy that vehicle Destroy it now That's it hehe

I type everything. "FLAMER!" "APC rush PP!" "Repair the damn building you morons!" I only use the 3rd one if my team's really really really a bunch of idiots. That really sucks. But really, where in the world do they go? They just disappear! It's not that big a map! Are they all hiding?

It would have been nicer if WW made it so when someone spammed the same thing as many times as possible it is only said and displayed once, I never say building needs repair when the message "GDI XXXX is under attack" beause I hope that my team are not as thick as ****To Corsair_734:I have no problem with the radio commands, they prove very usefull to get you point accross clearly and fast, also if you spelling is as bad as mine it wont leave your teammates saying "WTF does that mean?" I just cant stand people spamming out crap that isn't needed
