I did this on a wolf server , in fortress , i was gdi , i had hit their power already(unmined to my surprise) but i went back as a Patch w/ beacon, snuck in again(still unmined) but i ran into the refinery placed my c4 on mct , then ran to the airstrip and placed my beacon , the c4 went off and every one ran to the refinery looking for the beacon , and no one found it you can also just shoot another building with your gun until it says blah blah is under attack, then plant your beaconworks both ways though

Like this other guy said up here somewhere. If you get spotted at anytime, your plan is done. If people attack one and you beacon another, the enemy has 2 problems to worry about.
