Biggest * fluke I ever got was when I was sitting in the level, Field. And I am behind a hill, and everything is quite. 10 Player game, nobody is around. I assume people are saving up money, I am on GDI. My side is in the tunnels, so I am just sitting there as a sniper. Get bored, so I start shooting random rounds off in places. I get 3 rounds off till I hear "Boink." Sure anough a stealth guy falls down dead...One more was when I was a grenadier in the city level. And I dont see anybody on the bridge, and I didnt notice but there was a wounded Nod soldier runing below, and I shot a grenade round off and I hit him. And he died. Those are the only two flukes I have ever gotten. They were pretty funny thought.

I guess the strategy here is, always shoot randomly when you are bored.

On the map Under, I was driving a buggy up the hill towards GDI base, and right at the top, I sorta lost control of the buggy and it fell off the other side, and and it looked like it was going to flip over and blow up, but surprisingly it turned back the right way and I heard a 'boink'.. When I accendentally fell off I actually landed on a Sydney, LOL! The buggy was fine and I continued driving about.

My flukes consist of running over stealth black hands by accident; sometimes they carry beacons in their hands and I laugh.

Once I planted a beacon and a C4 next ot it as a stealth BH behind Barrack in Wall with flying. A GDI eng came and went up the ramp. Just before I am going to shoot him with my laser rifle he jumped off the barrack and killed by the C4 in midair. There is also many other such as in Under as Nod and I parked my art next to air strip and shoot out trying to hit med tank far away. SOmetimes I missed the tank but killed the Hotwire or Havoc behind.

I am always the unlucky recipient of all of the enemy's flukes. I was running to the enemy base on Walls, with a nuke/stealth... Noone was near, but I noticed a buggy coming out of our base... Tech rush, I figured... it started to drive past me, and I dropped dead. Turns out that a sniper shot at the buggy, but hit me... Not cool. Another really annoying thing, was nearly the same... The GDI power was out on city, and I was running to their base with the same nuke+stealth, and this GDI engy falls and dies right in front of me... I just thought his orca got shot down, but no... A second later, I get squished by the stupid n00b's orca, which fell when the newbie accidnetly got out at a high altitude.

Once I was in an Apache, and 2 mrls were firing at me, air was full of missiles. The apache explodes, and as I fall through a hail of missiles...one of them hit me right in the face

Must be one of those homing rockets that occurs very rarely and hated by Nod.
