my movie scene was (same map) ok i was havoc. and then all of a sudden an apache came up out of no ware, looked at me for a sec, then started to load me up. i dodged, calling for evac on the f3. all i got was a hummer that went the lower side, instead of the highway. so i had to jumped on it.   yep, u guesed it. i jumped on it, as it was passing under, pressed E and landed safley inside.i then got "qued" and shot him to no end. a sniper who had camtasia filmed this. he sed he was going to make a movie out of it.good thing he was like right next to me... though i dont understand why he didnt shoot the apache.

My hollywood moment was definately on Under.. driving up the middle mesa thing with a humvee then jumping off at the very top... and exploding at the bottom. I even jumped out of the humvee before it hit he ground. For what reason, I don't know, because I died because of it.

My own hollywood moment   :On city_flying,I am getting out of our(GDI) base with a MRLS.Then I see an apache that starts pounding me.My MRLS blew up,I went near the barrels under the bridge,it was firing machine gun bullets at me.Everything seems to be lost!Then I hear a very strong engine noise...I look behind the apache..MISSILE FIRE!BOOM!Apache is dead,a and drvies me to base.Every time that kind of thing happens,I think that it was a good thing that I bought Renegade   [June 12, 2002, 10:22: Message edited by: SlimyFury]

My Hollywood moment was on Walls. I was a Hotwire and one other guy was a Mobius. We made it into the Nod base, but we were spotted halfway to the refinery by a bunch of infantry and a light tank. Dodging the fire, we made it in the front door (no mines, which was weird). I planted my c4, and hid near the other door. We both knew they were coming, and the Mobius messaged "Today is a good day to die - stay put" and ran out with volt cannon blazing. I took a quick peek while I waited for the timed c4 to go off and saw the Mobius die a glorious death, charging the light tank, gunfire all around him in true Hollywood-death style.Of course, we got the refinery...just barely. I had to pistol a tech trying to disarm the timed c4.Just goes to show I should take screenshots more often.

my moment was on fortress. I was an sbh sniper in the tunnels, then I hear an orca near me I turn around and see an orca flying right towards me!   I quickly press crouch and ducked in time as it flew past me and laughed as it got stuck at the end of the tunnel.Same map but today, This time I was in the orca and flew into the tunnel to chase down a nod sniper ran him over with my orca as I turn around i see ACK trying to follow me in and laughed as he kept getting stuck in the tunnel, we had to help push his orca out of tunnel and during that time he shot an sbh trying to get into his orca my hollywood moment was.... some guy was planting a beacon on the pedestal and right then i was fixing my apache on the ground right behind the hand, so i see him and just pump the lead into him, it reminds me of one of those movies when some guys in a bulding and some heli just comes right from the bottom of the window and stars at u for a couple seconds and then blows the crap out of ya, lol oh the fun.and just for your information the beacon was disarmed and all was saved

My hollywood momment was in city flying. i was a sydney out of ammo from a apc rush, going to reload. i was on the top level in the middle and i decided to walk (dont no why) then and apache comes from the lower level and is hovering next to me. i decide to be brave and i get out my pistal. then i think DANG because its not benn reloded so i run at the apache. he opens fire after i jump off and land ON him. i set my c4. and then ANOTHER apache comes and trys to run me over. i jump off and suffer lots of damage but live. then the apache with c4 on it explodes and i run as the other one comes to get me. then 2 buggys start chasing and ones about to squish me when a hummve rams it out of the way and opens fire on the apache. then a trans heli comes and drops 2 mobiuses and a sydney to help. but thenod send a light tank and destroys the trans befor it can off load its gunners. all seems lost until 3 orcas show up and save the day. escorted by 2 mammys, i reload we rush tere base, and set a becon on top of the last building, (power plant) as a orca picks me up and we win.i dont know why they put all the effort in, but maybe it was because i was MVP the last 12 games.

WHAT IN THE BACKSTREET BOYS? anyway: it was under, and i was a mobius, out of c4 and had 1 clip left of volt. i ran to base, and almost got sniped by a sakura, when all of a sudden, 1 stank tries to run me over, so i lead it to the AGT and i shoot my 1 clip left, and it dies, along w/ AGT killing driver. the end. then we have a huge mammoth/hummvey rush, and we all rushed, while i/2 humveys took 3 obby hits, alowing mammoths to get in closer... now thats some heroism eh?

Nod Brotherhood-88 : I didn't bother reading your story or anything, but I'm quite sure you're lying because you said an Orca picked you up and you won. Everyone knows you can't have a passenger in an Orca.

after reading all these cool moments all I have is a small but extremely cool moment! I was GDI. We were outnumbered badly. My team was on the attack and we were all in a trasport heli. our heli was coming underfire when apaches attacked the heli driver told us to jump. we landed on the heli pad on the hand of nod and my team jumped in. nod was everywhere and with the endbecon pedistal in site we charged in. with guns blazing we smashed in. The defenders crushed everyone but me and my friends who is hotwire. he placed a beacon on the pedistal only to be killed by a shotgun trooper. I killed him then waited for more they just kept coming. A flamethrower guy kept coming in and jumping around he then stood still and I type dogde this! then killed him with a pistol. Then I jumped out the window only to have the ion stike crush the base! one of my friends was on nod and saw everything he later called me the the one!

The orca was next to me and it was EMPTY. I just said picked me up because i got in and flew away. It sounds cooler if you say picked me up and flew away.
