I have used many strats, here are some:Base is under heavy fire. Become Techie/Hotwire. Just stand in damaged building, w/ mines at entrance and on MCT repairing, not letting up on the button any. If your under constant fire, you rack up points and money quickly. Constanly assault base with vehicles, Mammy's, Med's, Artillery, etc,...Engi rush.Sniper. Preferably Havoc or Sakura. Beacon rush. Any other strat. Please tell me useful strategies. I am not a n00b, but I am still trying to get a high point rating, but i find that I spend too much time repairing my allies and buildings. and I find that sniping is incredibly fun and once I start, thats all I want to do and cant stop. Pls give me good strats. I already know the crouch over the nuke beacon w/ stealthy soldier or tank, ...

The absolute best way to be MVP, sure-fire, never-fails approach is....make MVP your screen name!

Hey! I never thought of that! Thats interesting. . . . REMEMBER! NONE OF YOU SAW THIS POST! YOU ARE FEELING SLEEPY! Lol. Wouldn't it be funny if you were REALLY the MVP? It would say:

MVP                      MVP

Well, since you get the most points for attacking and destroying buildings, it logically follows that the best way to get MVP is to attack buildings all the time.

Fastest points=shoot buildings. Only do this after all visible enemies have been destroyed.

Building bashing. Some map are excellent for building bashing with Art or MRLS such as Island, Wall and may be Mesa. Once I got more than 7000 points by bash the GDI war fact. Every time a tank come it and when they reached it, the tanks is already in yellow.

My suggestion, buy Patch. Shoot ppl in the head and kill them. Make enough to buy a beacon. Place your beacon near an enemy building. Shoot all who come to repair. Run and repeat. Pretty easy huh?

Buy a mobile artillery, find a safe spot and pound enemy buildings. When you're damaged, scream for repairs or retreat somewhere and fix yourself. If your tank is destroyed, double back and get another. Don't stay and repair other tanks.

don't follow the artillery suggestion...if you get blown up, DO repair your teammates...or be marked for life as a jackass.

Take the 1000$ sniper and shoot at enemy tanks. Its around 10 Points a shot on most Tanks. Empty some clips on a mammoth and you should be Nr.1

The purpose of my post was to illustrate how selfish some people become to get high scores. I thought it was obvious enough.Yes, repairing gives points as well, but its much less than damaging a building. On every map you see them, doing the same thing just to climb wol ranking.

As unfortunate as it sounds, the most common way to become MVP is to find a nice safe spot and sit there and blast at a building the whole game. Like those idiots who think they are good by blasting at the Hand from the GDI base in islands. Message: THAT DOES NOT PROVE SKILL!On the other hand, I always get MVP by spearheading assaults and participating in every APC rush, etc. There's so many ways to become MVP. Sniping is good, but it requires MUCH skill (I suck at it, I couldn't hit a mammoth tank that was right in front of me with my scope zoomed all the way in) Remember, you get 100 points for each elite class kill you get. And in the end that racks up A LOT of points. Covert assaults are also good for points. Going in alonew as hotwire can result in lots of points to you and 1 less building to them. Remember, killing a building gives you 750 points. Killing it with a beacon gives you a small bonus, I think 100 more points. Correct me on that. Like I said before, there are so many ways to be MVP. But you have to be good at doing them. There's lots of things I'm sure you can discover, even if it is exploiting a bug. Then again there are so many bugs in Renegade everything you do seems to be exploitation
