well this move has really become the buzz over in the WOLF private forums and you might already know this but heres the deal. You can be any infantry unit, preferably a SBH, but any will do. get a tech/hotwire to cover your body with 5+ proximity mines. Walk around, through shadows and tunnels and stuff until the C4 disappears, its still there just invisible (i dunno why, it just happens) sneak up on a sniper, and unit and just run into it. BOOMMRLS and Hummers can EASILY be taken out by the Jihadder. Ive seen Meds put into red and then destroyed by the jihadder. The best thing is that if FF is off, since its not YOUR C4 you are not harmed so u live to finish off whatever u bombed. yes we know what Jihad really means but the person who first named it (UberMoo) is a complete moron and the name Jihad that he gave it, just stuck. They are tinkering around with parabombers, aka Jihads dropped from Chinooks onto incoming tanks.

hey this is the worst tactic ever, i mean, it takes up mines that is used for base defence, and that is why it is against the rules in wolf... any1 seen there will be banned permanently. other than that its a great tactic

I carbomb ppl in this way (5 prox mines on bumper) The key to success is to yell out a war cry first:For my people!One way trip!Don't wait up for me!! shall avenge us!

this tactic is just stupid like what was said before it takes mines away form base defense. I'll bet you guys are the first to complain when you hear nod power off line and then yell at your teammates. suicide bombing=

Magoo you fools been said before about the mines. We know. Yes power offline sucks. What about Under where you have extra mines? Or are just fooling around?You get 1 star for being a sourpuss. Your just lucky you can't get a 0.

Your all fools, except Zrking. IF you use 5 mines to one door in the PP, you can instead take those 5 mines and stick em to a sbh soldier. THE mines become MOBILE, and you can easily cover both entrances, even kill the hotwires in the field and caves before they even reach ur base. Youll be able to cover the entire base using only 1/2 the usual amount of mines, and u can use the rest to wire a few carbombs.

It sounds cool and fun, and it looks cool, and its fun doing it...but I have never seen a team using this tactic win Rushing the base and destroying buildings is the only way to win...so much effort just to take out a free infantry or a humvee is just a waste.

If you have people covering the buildings then be a martyr. I'd like to see parabombers and jihad johny running about. It's stuff like that that keep the game fun to play.

They should put a parachte thingi on anyone who jumps off the chinook, just to make it more challenging, as people turn and twist and what not to get away from snipers since naturally, theyre an easy target cause they were slowed down.P.S. If anyone was wondering why i havent posted for so long, i forgot about htis site... lol did anyone miss me?K s h i t i j Magoo, I completely agree. I gave you a 5 star rating for showing common sense. However, if you could have a engi follow you, watching, he could detonate REMOTE mines, and therefore save the proxies to cover buildings.

I do this sort of thing a lot when my brother and I are on the same server but different teams. for example on hourglass is where i usually do it he comes into tunnle as an infantry i put 2 remote mines on him and he runs back into his base. When he find 2 or 3 people grouped together he tells me to detonate it and i get 4 kills at same time. The people who got killed are scratching their head wondering how the h3ll i did that. it is really fun when I get to kill engineers repairing a building under attack like the AGT two hotwires or 3 whatever, all of the sudden every repair person is dead and they cant figure out why.

thats oooooooooold, but still very fun, what i ussaly do wit one of my friends is host a 2 vs 2 match and then load either one of us wit all 30 proxy or put em all on the front of a buggy/humvee, and then run into sumthing, funny when ff is on, lol, or u shove all 30 on the bottom of a choper and drop in on sum1,
