I got my MCP license!

what is it? Microsoft certified proffesional.

How did i get it?
Not learning out of the book but thanks to mainaining renegade servers!

Why do i post it here?
Im so exited that i got the license since i though i would fail, the examn was fkn hard! YAAAY

i can work at any company who needs windows system administrators, its bullshit though. I had to choose a class next to my other classes doing Commercial Economics. I thought this would be fun, but it was driving me nuts.

Congrats! I am too working on my certifications... I'm going for a few MCTS (*.Net Cert) with the skills I acquired from programming renegade related stuff.

That and I gained enough skill from programming here that I was hired at the #3 best Software company in the US for Document Management.

I think the above post symbolises why I've been spending less time than I ought on here lately, everyone just wants to bring everyone else down.

Congratulations.

thanks all.

And sorry for the grammer, I don't really put effort in re-reading my messages. Also I actually don't use the spelling checker.
And for the haters, please GTFO.

former clanwar players have a tendency to do that maybe they're self-loathing or maybe they just have strange senses of humor
i'm glad renegade did something productive for you

Renegade has also helped me in school. A lot of the projects that I worked on have helped with my Network Technician ASS Degree. Most of my class are really because all the stuff I had to figure on my own when trying to make something for renegade.
