I don't know if any one else feels this way but it can be kinda troublesome to have to go to different sites to get certain tools for modding.

black hand studios has done a good job of solidifying most of the tools and software that you need but there are some things like the Level Editor which can be replaced with the easier John Will's LE. also not included is things like the XCC.mixer (used for extracting files from data folder and another file (who's name escapes me at the moment) which allows you to import W3D models.

I propose if we got some good programmers/scripters if we could make all this one file or atleast make it all on one site for ease of loading.

(note for Black hand studios some of the links to the files you have are either not working or no longer available)

Every tool you need to make something for renegade is already available. Not sure what you mean. There are many sites to get all these tools like renegade zone, cnc source, game-maps, and many people in the ren community have them all on a ftp or web server. If you want one tool that does everything then your out of luck.
