Also will it say something like if you don't have it installed will it give a download link to it?

I just don't like having multiple icons on my desktop of diff mods that i play, but if not it's cool.

Simple solution: Delete the desktop clutter and use that fancy new invention called the Start Menu to group things into these clever things called folders (or, if you prefer, directories).

Results in a nice clean desktop and a clever list of programs sorted by function. Easy.

but if you made simple tabs for the mods to be launched from that would be cool.....

ObjectDock or RocketDock. I haven't had any icons on my desktop in like two years.

Or pin to taskbar (or pin to start menu) if you're using Windows 7.

Don't play mods, that's the easiest solution I can think of.

That too. All except maybe two of them are awful, and half of the ones that aren't awful are bad, and the ones that aren't bad still don't get played. Sooo...

The only mods you should have are stand alone and have other ways to get online.

It's based off of RA2, so it's awful by default.
