Playing on the Monkeylovers server today, on Hourglass as GDI. Two Nod APCs come rushing in and BOOM, no more WF. Everyone starts buying hottys, mobys, havocs, and pics. I get a pic and start blasting away at flame after flame. One guy begins backing away, around the mountain. I pursue, hoping to take him out. He gets out of the tank and begins to repair. I can see his legs beneath the tank, due to me being lower than him. I aim and fire. Boink. Took the flame and defended against rush after rush. The best thing against a flame or apc rush has got to be another flamer, at least on Hourglass.
