I heard someone mention that he was caught aimbotting, or something to that effect, and was shunned from the "community" at large.

the video made me burst out laughing
he had a nod soldier charging the bar from the left side on Complex some engineer came up towards him and he hit the aimbot button but did a 90 degree turn into the rock the moment his gun started firing; there was a gdi soldier on the other side that was closer than the engineer he was standing there caught red-handed unloading his rifle fully into a wall despite an enemy being directly in front of him that wouldn't happen with the newer version of the cheat, but this was also before that was released

Thanks guys. I was wondering because I came across a thread where I had mentioned destroying the PTs in Black Cell's old server, and he came in to say something to the effect of "cheating is bad, and you are bad."

Oh how the mighty have fallen. What happened to him afterward? Nobody knows?

msgtpain was caught cheating!?!?! Tell me it isn't so!? I miss that guy, use to play in his server back in the day all the time. I always knew he was an incredible good shot, just didn't know he was cheating all these days. If he put as much work into learning how to snipe legitimately as he did hiding his cheats, he probably would of still been the best.

Oh well

A number of our mods were suspicious of him for around a year. The cheat he was using didn't appear until after all of the dumb cheats appeared. My guess is he used it for 1-2 years.

He was always a good player, back before any cheats came out...but never was a great player. He was pulling some pretty incredible bs for a long while.

With custom objects or bones it would be pretty much possible that one wouldn't detect someone cheating until BIATCH came out. Unfortunately, *cheat name removed* came out around the same time or was already released. Not sure which.

If he was a mod at Jelly, I had the same (I wasn't a mod however). Called him out in all chat and whispers to mods but most didn't believe it so they didn't care. Gave up and I just tried to avoid him. Pretty much every game the pub ppl would claim he was cheating too.

Though I have had ppl calling me out for stealth hacking for a while too (from Fnfal to Jelly).

That's really shocking to me. He was very strongly anti-cheating... well any sensible person would be, but I thought he particularly disliked cheaters.

I wonder what made him do it in the end. Maybe just boredom and not caring anymore?

Personally, I doubt he was always using cheats. He was a very good shot, but he did literally nothing but snipe people in tunnels... he had lots of practice. Also, I'm sure The Pits ran RenGuard and he still played the same? I'm not sure he would have been able to bypass it at the time? I tend to believe he was a genuinely good player, who for some reason, turned to cheating. It's a shame.

In the last year or two I bet it wasn't the case. I agree he was a good shot, but not a "very good" shot. He definitely wasn't like how he was playing pulling off headshots 24/7. The cheat he used gets around renguard with ease...most cheats do. It was designed to bypass Renguard and is largely the most undetectable cheat in this game made. If the user is smart, it's extremely tricky to catch. One of our mods was set on catching him, it took a good month before he slipped up this way.

I meant that I doubt he was cheating around 2005-2006, because I haven't played Renegade for a long time. He seemed legitimately good back then. I don't mean that he wasn't cheating for the last couple of years, if you people who caught him think he was. You'd know a lot better than me, obviously.

That's the trouble with cheating though, isn't it? It brings everything you've ever done into question.

i thought you owned and/or ran renstation speedy well, if you see the moment before the nod soldier starts firing (you'd think he's about to fire at the engineer right in front of his face) his gun snaps at the mountain and unloads a hefty load of bullets

he was attempting to remove the engineer's face with an aimbot, but that aimbot targetted the closest target (which was on the other side of the rock wall)

he was trying to hit a guy he likely didn't know was there or just didn't notice (that cheat acts like a wall hack as well in a way)

I'd like to see msgtcheat come in here and defend himself. Especially after years of accusing me of cheating in his server when I flew an Orca/Apache or used an APC. He had a hard-on for thinking I cheated because I bothered using the tracer bullets to aim in front of people so they ran into them.

lol...I played the hell of out of renegade back in the day. When I was fourteen around 2003, I use to play the pitts a nice amount. This one day (can't remember the maps name) I was going down a tunnel with an eng when mgst was at the entrance of the tunnel. I headshot him with a pistol and he instantly banned me. he thought I was cheating cause I didn't have renguard on. it was funny cause at the time, I got the first decade so me and my brother had 2 renegade games now. For some reason i couldn't get renguard on it with first decade. Long story short, i was raging like a typical teen on the internet cause I didn't cheat and everyone on the pitts forums was bashing me because of me being so angry along with the fact i didn't have renguard on . they unbanned me and I played on the server but no one that was part of the pitts said anything too me. even though I did just as good as them a nice chunk of the time . All in all, the pitts was a nice server for its competitiveness but lol....its funny too see this video. karma is a bitch.
