If someone is doing that on the blueyonder servers, join #byrenegade on irc.quakenet.org and tell one of the admins.

Its pretty stupid to do that to your own base.....but if u have friendly fire off it doesnt hurt right? So if you guys are under attack and he does it where a big installation of en tanks are allocated he blows em all up? so in a way u could kinda see how it works.....even thouguh ur waisint points

It's does hurt, because even if FF is off, there's a bug in the code that allows you to do it. It's supposed to be fixed in the next patch.*waits for the posts whining about how the next patch is

COLOUT14 - yeah, I was playing the other day when he kept nuking his own base.GRRRR.The problem is that folks can quit under one name, then rejoin gameplay with a different name. Even if we compile a blacklist, it would lack IP addresses, and these guys can just play with their other four aliases (You can only have 5)
