is there a way to set the time limit lower or higher for an individual map in a rotation

I want to do something like this

CnC Canyon 30 mins
CnC Beach 15mins
Cnc city 30mins

I think you'll know what im getting at

No... that would be nice though... your only option, I guess is to execute a "gameover" when you want the map to end. I suppose such a function COULD be built into BR and it's a great idea...

yeah thats a good idea, so you could have a server rotation with some DM's in for a short time to have a break or even a capture the flag (wait till you see my new CTF).

Well i thought this was a renegade mod forum.

This would count as a mod.

Why would i have to create a new username at another forum.....when dante and blazer visits this board?

Sorry ack i thought you were blaming me for spaming.....i just read in general discussion it was aimed at carl

Once again i apoligize

To bad your DEAD WRONG. Dante has no plans of visiting these forums. At All. Whatsoever. He registered to turn down the moderator nomination. And to prevent an imposter from taking his name.

looks like i'll have to head over there then

But im positive he visited the old official forums....

And it did request for blazer also....not just dante

Thanks for the help carl ....i'll ask him over there

I would gladly help if I could, but I have had little involmment in the development of BR.NET. It's Dantes baby and anything like feature requests should be directed to him.
