well, its actually quit simple, i used a skin on sakuras head, and got a program that is programmed to click when the mouse is over that color, so its actualy an aimbot right?

Come on, he at least deserves credit for originality! Stupid as it may sound, i believe such a stupid idea might actually work with the right tools... Technically it wouldnt be an aimbot, since it doesnt actually do any aiming!But really, would someone really go as low as removing all the textures in the game just to make it so they can win for once!?

geez, i always hate it when ppl do this, you call them a n00b before they can explain or say anything in their defense. I bet that he just did that and made this post to tell people that he did it. did he say he used it? No. my props to you man. oh yea, and 5 stars for originality [ August 30, 2002, 18:02: Message edited by: The_Beast ]
