Raveshaw! Man he is one cool dude. You know who i mean, the short guy with the little berret! (Unless your Monster Raveshaw) Isn't cool on maps like field and hourglass, becoming Raveshaw and blasting tanks from the waterfall and taking cover when they fire at you! (field) or when MLRs are hitting your barracks on GDI to give them a few hits and hiding round the corner when they try and fire at you, and repeating when they stop (hourglass) i love it! BUT... it's a different story if your GDI and there is a Raveshaw doing this to you! Unless a total n00b or a new player is using him they are very hard to kill! Sometimes i wish they were cheaper so i could be them all the time trouble with PIC, i mean you can do all the offence things with her that i have mentioned above.. but she is hardly ever around in games... and when she is it is normally in tunnels fighting other infantry) quote:Originally posted by lukazan:and when she is it is normally in tunnels fighting other infantry)O god I hate when people do that. Specially *off topic* in sniper games when its actually labeled a *Snipers Only* game and peeps are running around in the tunnels popping at close range....sure as hell is great practice but its not technically sniping .....sorry but had to complain about something ....id rather you a LBH rather then raveshaw and a patch rather then PICbye

Raver on Field and Mesa =Th3 W1N!! LOVE popping 5000 creds worth of GDI hardware on field with my little ol' raver. If used in a smart manner, one raver can last a whole game!

Absolutely! I had a Raveshaw on hourglass for a full 45 minute game! Must have taken out at least 8 Mammoths and loads of other vehicles.

Well... whenever I'm in a sniper only game, getting a PIC or Raveshaw is usually allowed, because of the similar damage and the rof.
