My new tactic with stealth black hand is taking good position and waiting opponent to come to my firing range. Then I shoot him/her and when situation comes too hot for me I hide and wait my stealth shield to activate again. Then I back to my position and to it again.

Well... don't expect to get MVP all the time doing that. Its only something you may want to do in large public games if you don't care about your rank. I do it all the time, but I just tend to stalk vehicles and when they are idle, I throw c4, run back and hide, and when the vehicle decides it wants to go and repair, I take it

I enjoy dropping my c4 on people, running away and hiding. Then I PM them just one word.. "boom" It is so funny to watch them spin all around looking for me, when I am already a safe distance away. When I am out of c4 then I look for some fool repairing in the middle of the feild.

What about the terrible irony of when the sniper gets c4 on the cloaker? What is the most witty thing to say?

I was placing c-4 on an MCT. Apparently the SBH was there waiting to kill me. He did, but promptly died himself. His only response....." Doh! "I didn't know Homer Simpson played Renegade

I'm not sure but I think Kirb did it to me in revenge for running him over with a ST about 3 times. I like the SBH camping bit on 'under' at the very top of ridge to deny GDI the area to camp for sniping. I hate when my teammates allow that to happen. So on that map I almost never take armour except ST to run over snipers and hit meds from the rear. If Nod is fortunate enough to cntrol the ridge or no one controls GDI had best beware my raveshaw from the ridge. [September 09, 2002, 10:01: Message edited by: hareman]

Then you placed c-4 on my butt in my own AGT. That was funny.

yeah, after that though the game went downhill as my team blew. But I loved nailing that selfrighteous guy who kept claiming I was using an aimbot when I kept running him over and sniped him several more times.

I pride myself in being able to steal at least 1 med tank in every game if I'm Nod. Sadly, I waste the whole game stalking it and c4ing it, because usually in levels like Under, they drive back to base

I like to play as a SBH and put c4 on camper/sniper's backs and PM them "boink" 20 seconds later .
