Hi

I can log in to my XWIS account on my laptop but do not remember the password as it was a crazy one XWIS did for me.

I want to move the account over to my PC.

Is there anyway to see the password whilst being logged in on XWIS since I don't have the serial I first registered it on anymore?

Dave

You need the username and pass.

You need the serial if you want to reset the password.

I don't think it shows it ingame anymore. They want you to use the control panel here. The password to get into the control panel is different from the the one you use to log into multiplayer. If you have the password for the control panel, you can see the password there.

Follow this guide to log into the XWIS control panel:
http://www.renegadewiki.com/index.php/Registering_a_nick_on_XWIS then add the serials on your laptop and pc to that account, it should list the usernames & passwords you've used in the past with that serial after you register the serial.
