*Mods: I hope this thread is ok. I am trying to keep my collection within the community. I have loved C&C for the past 15+ years, but its time for me to move on....sadly!*

First, let me introduce myself. I am SSWarBird. I happen to me one of the few OG's from C&C. Some may know me, most probably wont. I Have been around since the beginning. Im saddened to say that I have grown up enough to have to sell off my collection of C&C items. I have spent the last 5-6 years collecting C&C items and have quite a vast assortment. I am probably the biggest private collector in the USA.

Please visit my site for info and items.

NOTE: Please include your handle and website you visited from in your email. I will begin honoring offers on 11/12/11

Thanks for the comments guys.

Guys, per the website please email me offers and questions at: sswarbird@gmail.com

I have this info posted on about half a dozen websites. I dont have set prices per say. Please email me your best offers.

Some of the games are original and sealed. Some have been re-wrapped since the original cellophane was beginning to tear and rip.

You've got more stealth tanks or is that the only one? Asking because that one is probably already sold if I'm guessing; it's pretty rare.

i bought a little ez8 sherman so the stank has a friend there's an orca too but it stays up high!

stank with a hetzer and T-34-85 russian medium tank
stank would obviously win

Not even a challenge, Those tanks didn't have a turret, so all the stank would have to do is drive around them and attack them from the rear. ByeZ big-fat-tank-without-turret

T-34-85 has a turret. And role wise Tank Destroyers were support tanks for infantry and other tanks. Besides that, a hetzer is pretty small
