Thats why you cant do it. If you could you'd have 4 apc's rushing the base with beacons on the roof.

I tried that once and it didn't work. The beacon killed some idiot on the other team that came by wondering what the sound coming from the "metal thingy" was, lol.

i tried planting a beacon on my tank several times, but it always appears on the ground where the tank was parked. The beacon must be locked into a section of the ground when it gets planted. has anyone been able to do this. I would love to plant a beac on a vehicle and drive it into the enemy base. That would be so cool!LOL.I don't think it will ever work though.

It was possible to plant them on it. They would fly in the air.

no beacons just fall right through vehicles....just like you can't stand on a vehicle and have it drive away so that you can be carried along and shoot at the same time...

i wish you can stand on top of a vehicle as they drive while you shoot. that would be cool. all the people in the apc has protection and can't shoot(except for the drvier or the gunner) and all the people on the roof will have no protection at all except for their health an body armor.

I did it to an enemy tank on multi. I was on a edge and when he was right below me I jump onto the humvee and planted the nuke beacon on the top and I jump right off. I then hide behind some rocks and followed him to his base and then he drove his humvee into the inside of his Heavy Weapons Factory and the nuke went off and destroyed the Factory the Humvee and the guy. I got big money for the one.

if you say so....   ......I've tried many times to jump on a vechicle and get carried away...but the only time i've been able to get it to work is when you jump onto the harv. and I don't think you can stick a nuke to a hummer... let alone when someone else is in it... since you die the moment an enemy vehicle moves when youre standing on it... and since beacons drop right through the vehicle when you place it on them..

I was on city flying one night and had my Orca sniped to pieces, I land on top of the apche I was trying to kill and droped my timed C4 on it. I jumped off and 30 seconds later I heard 3 boinks. I killed his chopper an engie and two others who were near him.

"Nuclear Strike C4 Deployed, Warning Nuclear Strike Approaching"LOL!Anyway, I love going on top of the tall buildings to the left and right of the bases in walls flying as an engy, dropping c4 on the enemy orcas/apaches that come by, and listen to the pilots call me a stupid hacking n00b. It's fun to jump on top of a damaged orca and kill it with your pistol   .
