How's your signal? Either go wired or get closer to your router. Even if the computer furthest away doesn't have the same issues, that doesn't mean your computer won't.

I'll see if i can find a wire long enough to at least test it for a day or 2, when i talk someone into buying it. for now i will see if i can move the usb to another location and see if anything changes

Edit: bit of extra info. i was sending messages to a friend on facebook, he got every message. But i didn't get a single message he sent me for almost 10 minutes.
