You could yell "teamwork" until you're blue in the face and most people won't listen. Asking for teamwork falls on deaf and sometimes dumb ears.Teamwork has gone the way of the dinosaur on most servers.

actually I had some teamwork today it was a 2 vs 2 infantrywar on field and we were Nod, and kept ambushing GDI you know, by both watching them for approx 30 seconds and picking the right moment to waste emedit: as stealth ofcourse [October 29, 2002, 10:50: Message edited by: xBlackopp]

Teamwork is gone for most servers but I will sometimes team up with someone and both of us can take out the enemy because we are fighting together and they aren't. Like we'll get a APC and I'll have a nuke/ion and he'll cover me and the beacon until it hits with the APC.

I think it's pretty useless to post this here. When some is on this forum he'll probably will already had this insight himself. The people you want to reach are not on these forums.Jusitier

I'm with oo00o00oo, (and the rest of you), it's getting really tough to get some good team work going. I have been in games with oo00o00oo (I'm jetff- but most guys just call me jeff), and we have worked together. (I don't like being on the other side cuz you are tough to win against) cheers!

The last two nights I have played on Gamespy. Both games I played had pretty good teamwork. Of course there were tank rambo's on the team, but about 3 or 4 of us worked together, and that many people in a team is hard to stop. I got frustrated with WOL's lack of teamwork so I tried Gamespy. I guess I could have just been lucky to find teammates in the two games that I played.

I think there are 3 clans that can do it anymore, and they are tired of playing each other all the time.

What is teamwork to you? people who do what you say? or you doing what others have to say to you? The only reason why teamwork isn't so common is because the TEAM is trying to WORK with different ideas. Everyone on the team has a goal, they could type their goal but I bet 9 times out of 10 you won't do it because you think your goal is better, or more effective. So the ways that you could get teamwork is by1)Having authority over the team. (Rank or MVP might do)2)Knowing the team personally.3)By sheer luck.

Mines are usfull on hourglass where the AGT is down but SBH can still getin if they use teamwork.And for the record I played in the pitts the last couple of days and prplhaze was on my team a few times and either ha has changed his ways or I was wrong about him. I would play with him on my team anytime.

It's sad & true. However, In the absence of teamwork, I usually pair-up with an offensive player (as in attacking lol) and look after him kind of like a wingman. It helps if you choose the right partner..that's the tough part.
