Hey guys,

What is the latest technology you know about, and why do you think it is interesting?

I know about lots of technology... those televisions excite me.

Also, when they get a bit cheaper definately buying a solid state drive.

A short while ago, I read about a new type of solar panel being developed at MIT (I think).

Instead of the usual rectangular flat solar panel, a new design has been made in which the panel resembles an oddly shaped column, standing vertically.
