You know, my government handouts actually pay entirely for my participation in air-conditioned college classrooms as well (that is, if the Ryan budget doesn't cut the Pell grants like he wishes to, but that's a whole other topic altogether).

Of course, he won't read this because he added me to his ignore list after I slapped him with logic.

Regardless of the job he's doing, its still a job.

Props to him for even having a job, do you know how hard it is to even get a basic job working at a supermarket like Asda (British version of Walmart) in the UK? I know buddies of mine that are outta work that would kill for any job, it's much better than living on government handouts and a lot more honorable.

Personally my thoughts are, regardless of who started it, if you continue it, then that only makes you as bad as the person that started it.

Treat others as you would have them treat you.

I think we can at least agree that Good-One-Driver is firmly incapable of forming a coherent thought that he can claim to all his own. All he seems to do here is say "!o!! JUMP ON IFAG'S

I like how shaitan didn't reply to this topic until liquid correctly stated that he was the first one

E.g. you Submit a skin for "bloom water" in January 2011, but you have c4 emitters on? Why? You claimed to have stopped using and producing them in 2009.

If you actually played, then you'd be aware that Ren Corner has definitely had a impact on Jelly numbers from time to time.

tbh, I think they welcome the competition, who wants to play in a server with 50 players anyways, far too many for the small stock rene maps.

Well sure. Jelly's numbers dip each time someone is banned for being a cheater and/or making cheat skins. Subsequently, RC's numbers go up!

does it not show up on renlist or something? or is it just always empty?

n00bstories hasn't been on GSA in years as per a administrative decision, it is always on WOL.

Oh god I was staying out of this argument entirely but really? You think in this day and age .. fucking 2012 .. with such a low playerbase .. that people still only click the first links like fucking lemmings? Haha. Okay bud I'm pretty sure the fact that it's always near full when you refresh is probably a bigger contributor to people joining it than the high hostnicks haha. Whatever keeps you from having to admit to what's really going on though.

Any new players will automatically be attracted to Jelly because of the current numbers in-game, new players are not going to join a server on their own or try to populate it.

Rest of the players are regulars and are fixated on a server they like.

Hostnames at this present time have nothing to do with it, maybe in like 2006-8 or 9(at a push).

The only thing that would happen right now if Jelly were to switch hostname is people get confused about where it has disappeared to, but most(70% i guess) would figure it out.

you might have a point, if you did it when it mattered (spoony was the only one who actually said anything iirc)

It doesn't matter at all now, since xwis doesn't sort it by username anymore.

And most people just direct connect anyway.

You can act like a little school bully all you like on the internet, one day someone will show up on your doorstep. I hope they make a youtube of it, that'd kick some ass.

Vultima/ehh, why are you two giving speeches on host nicks? I said if you ever pipe in with something like that, they'd jump your ass too. When did Xwis start sorting by numbers? cough
No the majority do not use direct connect. I'm not sure where you're getting that information from, but it is totally wrong. If you guys weren't little trolls, I'd say go be an admin/owner/mod somewhere, then come back and say that. They're going to join the server that shows the most players on Xwis, not GSA.

I love how you cannot read, nor interpret a multiple meaning phrase.

Where's the supposed "death threat"?

You missed the really bad pun, too. Since you're from that 3rd world countrty, we'll chalk it up to that.

Vultima and trisst are trolls. Any time they join a server stir up shit.

Did you deformed children get HIV and die yet, iran?

I am sure a lot of regulars use direct connect, probably not most but a significant number.
