while sitting in a tank next to a building and pounding on it gets the job done, if u can try and strafe back and forth in front of the doors to prevent engines/techs from reaching the MCT. i see some do it but some dont. ex: me and one other flamer are attacking the pp, i am block one door, y not help out and block the other door.

I'm glad you posted this.EXAMPLE: Often times the difference between taking down the AGT with a flame tank or not, depends on whether you can get to the front door and block it before engines come.
