Iran does what he does for a number of reasons ultimately though, he's contributed far more positive things to the game as a whole than DJ ever could and he's a far better player than DJ ever could be he does have a tendency to poke fun at people on forums, however how is hosting a game myself where every player's starting credits are 2.7 billion (which they can see on their screen as the set starting credits) cheating?

especially when i was requested by players to add this feature to my patch alongside allowing other multiplayer options to be reading at startup and saved before the game is closed would be nice if the trolls here would actually try
