that was a neat video, but i have something interesting to tell you most of the 80 maps you mentioned have probably been around longer than most current Renegade players
nonetheless, it's still fun seeing new battlefields

nice video

What liquid said. Additionally, putting a coat of primer over shitty paint isn't going to make the shitty paint go away. In other words, adding "new" (you mean old, really) levels to your rotation doesn't freshen it up at all. In the end, it's still Renegade, with generally shittier looking\playing levels.

and the comment was to do with getting kicked for 24hr, when i wasnt even spawn killing, mods changing the rotation to terrible maps to suit them and getting flamed all game, then getting warned for calling him a fag once

The topic was about the video Bazil made for MPF. It looks nice he did a good job on it. I sit here wondering why people can't look at what another person did and either give him a complement on all his hard work and for it turning out so nice. Or for giving him some pointers how how to make it better. Instead people always just start going off on stuff that has nothing to do with why the topic was started for.

And tbh MDK has been a great mod here at MPF the other servers out there would be proud to have staff treat their community like he does. The past is the past just let it go already!

I mainly ment the color scheme and the fact the left side of the U ends up higher. The Unreal Engine logo also pops in with a circular effect and the sound on the background is a similar hum as used in the Unreal logo. Less pronounced and more equalized (brought to one level) though.

It was just an observation of similarities. I did not say it was a copy/clone. I don't know which one was earlier or how long ago the Ultra AOW logo was created. When I saw it I just thought it looked familiar in a way.

@Bazil; I never said the sound was wrong.

@Zunnie; I didn't know when it was created. I'm not all knowing ;P

@Roszek; Similarities are not bound to fonts and I'm not angry (hell, I don't even know if I've ever been. I only raised my voice once or twice but even then I wasn't angry 0o. I've really got quite the opposite of an anger problem lol).

You can reference MDK (like Zunnie referenced DJ-EYE-K) if you like but most of the rene-drama was before my time. I only know the parts that are currently happening and I'm not getting into that spam-fest.

Aside from that, posting things like "Oh he look! We made this guy a mod" is kinda asking for it.

I nearly lost it when I saw Fortress come up. Back in my [FoD] and [EoE] days we hosted several small sniper and infantry only servers. The custom fan maps of that day were just phenomenal to play on with the aforementioned gameplay styles.

It was really great to see them in your video. Looking good guys, the community overall needs more fan maps!
