Just curious...are the stock maps in their current form complete or were more additions planned for them?

On Complex, I read somewhere that it is a underground Tiberium research "complex." That's where it got its name.

Were more additions like computer consoles, mini-tiberium silos and other 3D filler objects ever planned to be in the tunnels? Or did they make a decision to keep it plain and simple resulting in its current form?

if you're feeling up to it, you could make a fan version of Complex and fill the tunnels with all kinds of annoying shit to block people on foot!

My understanding of the current stock maps is that they were meant to include a lot more but WW got rushed into pushing renegade out earlier.

I imagine complex would have had a lot more in those tunnels.
