For the people curious about the technical side. In 2019, after the forum host changed things around, a backup had to be restored. However, the forums ran on a very old PHP-version and were no longer compatible with the new host. I contacted crimson a while ago to give me an opportunity to try and update the forums to a newer version so she could reactivate it. It wasn't easy at all, as we had to upgrade over several different versions, but here we are back, in time before the Renegade birthday :wink:. I thank Crimson for her trust.

There's an amazing load of history in here, as well as a ton of assets in the "mod release forum". All files attached to the posts still work.

Dunno if I ever had an account here back in the day, but I've played off and on since maybe '03 or '04. Got it from the Command and Conquer Collection pack from '03 the first time, then later TFD when I lost it all in an accident! I still got those same TFD discs, too. Last I played was probably 2011. Who knows! All I know is I just SBH'd right through GDI's doors and helped kill a barracks in a big game for the first time in over a decade!

Absolutely amazing, thankyou. Attachments are extremely valuable.

Several times in the past few years I've wanted to find stuff that was only on here. Archive.org never made much of this site.

EDIT:

Might be worth putting a rate limiter or some sort of captcha on the login page.
Password recovery email lists a n00bstories.com email address. It looks like the MX records are setup to point to gmail so that probably still works :xmas:

Wow, haven't thought about Renegade in forever. Brings back so many memories. Thanks Gotzow for bringing me back to my gaming glory days.

Stoked to see it on Steam. Will definitely be downloading and replaying my favorite game of all time.

ETA....last post was in 2014 so I'm guessing I last played sometime then as well.

There are no plans to bring it back, it already was a haste back in the days with all the defacing.

Hey guys,
I stopped playing Renegade like more than 15 years ago I guess, it's crazy that this forum is still somehow active :)
I still remember names like Goztow, Whitedragon and Crimson here, hope you are doing all well.
Merry X-Mas btw.

Certainly nostalgic to see these forums online once again. Well done (and thank you)! I started playing public games again about a year or so ago. And competitive again maybe 6 months or so. This game remains incredibly unique.

Crimson, on a more personal note: I sincerely apologize for being a pain in the rear end many years ago. A lot has changed in my life since then (for the better), and looking back at some of our exchanges I am embarrassed to be confronted with my old cranky self-centered self. Happy to have a private conversation if you find it necessary, otherwise I'm hoping it's water under the bridge. (I had a good laugh when I saw I still had a custom title configured!)
