Griever92 and Sk8riMuk need to stop spamming or get banned. This is starting to FUCKING piss me off. I'm seeing good posts drop down the list because of these two. Can someone do something about it

Very much agreed. This is the second thread about Sk8riMuk. Banning would be a bit harsh, maybe Crimson should just reset thier post count to 0 and have it stuck there.

Yeah, and SirPhoenixx is a close third, at 279 posts.

I copied this little snapshot from the forum listings. You can clearly see what these two are trying to do.

Hmmmmmm. Good idea. It would discourage the others too.

Wait until they get to 349 and reset. At the pace they are going both will hit that mark later tonight, or early tomorrow.

I said ban because I knew it would draw more attention, and show how serious I am. When WW was closing that was a different thing, everyone was doing it because we wouldn't be able to anymore. This is our new home, and to me, it feels like someone is littering on our lawn when they spam. So warnings, post resets or banning them are going to be the only ways we can control any future spammers.

You heard the community, guys... please try and make your posts worth our time to read. I joked with Blazer the other day that I should make the first 3 to reach 350 stay at "recruit" forever...

Hey I will keep my post down from now on would have been nice to reach commander first but it is not losing the communitys trust and support...

I won't be one of the first three to hit 350 posts now then I hope.

That's fine... hopefully this is the last we'll hear about it. Your posts should, theoretically, be a reply to the poster, or a relevant opinion contributing to the topic.

I was Ok with this sort of thing the first few days because we needed to get the new boards filled up with some posts, but now we have plenty of content and we can spend our time being productive and/or amusing... not spammy.

Thank you Crimson.

I really am glad to see the administrators and moderators actually being part of the community. Unlike the old home.

Thanks Sk8 for not flipping out on the post. All we need now is for Griever92 to see this post.
