Do you remember this guy called Maytridy from the old forums he mailed me a few minutes ago with this, I was wondering if you could help him.

Quote:

I have an account, but i lost my password. When i go to the lost password page i get this: "Sorry, but your password cannot be retrieved because your account is currently inactive. Please contact the forum administrator for more information." I put the administrator's s\n's on my AIM buddy list, but they arent on right now, and they dont supply an e-mail address. Any ideas?

His e-mail is Maytridy@rochester.rr.com he shouldn't mind me giving it out as it's in his member profile anyways. I'm sure he appreciates this

He sent me an email, but didn't specify which forums he was referring to (these or the n00bstories forums)... it looks like he never activated his account, meaning he never got the verification email, or didn't click the link in said email. I manually activated his account so he can get in.

My account has been activated as you can see. Thank you soo much Crimson. These forums are under much better care than the WW forums. You're doing a great job. Thanks, and keep up the good work.
