npsmith I would like to congratulate you on a very nice and compact sig. I would still take the blank lines out of it and compact a couple of the lines into one, but its WAY more bandwidth and space friendly than the ones many are using (and that I will have to soon nudge into compliance)

At least mine isnt over 25 lines long. Its pretty sad when peoples signatures are 4 times longer than their average posts, and just 2 or 3 people posing "hi" makes everyone have to scroll for 5 pages.

I agree... most signatures are pretty pointless, and are huge.. take iceswords for example...

BTW icesword, what kind of video card are you using, because that ground looks like crap.
