I was playing as NOD on City_Flying a couple hours ago. We lost our Hand, Power plant, then our Harvester. Problem was, when we got our NEW Harvester, it was invisible (not Stealth-invisible, just INVISIBLE) and it wouldn't MOVE! We would buy a vehicle, have it dropped on the Harvester because it wasn't moving off the pad, then promptly receive a NEW harvester, which more often than not, would drop and blow up the new vehicle.

What an INCREDIBLE pain in the ass. It was made even worse by the fact that it was taking 3-4 times as long for that APC I wanted, which was promptly DESTROYED by the new Harvester!

Remember, it's Nod, not NOD.

Yes, thank you for that incredibly helpful advice which could easily have been sent via PM but wouldn't have raised your post count that way. :rolleyes:

That isn't advice, it's just a fact.

Isn't my fault that you can't distinguish between acronyms and normally spelled words.

Is ANYONE going to contribute something useful? Or is this going to turn into another example of the childish maturity level that these forums are already overrun with?

People are apt to point out flaws in others that they have themselves...

Apparently evidenced in the fact that you're blaming majikent and I for your own shortcomings in replying to a simple correction of your improper usage of the word "Nod."

:rolleyes:

Ignore ACK, he is just annoying most of the time :rolleyes:

Anyway, the bug is annoying, funny, but annoying

Watch someone run to the Airpad, see a vehicle drop, then bam Harvie Drops takes out the vehicle.

See that unit stop, then the "OMFG that f*kin Harvie!!!! ARRRRFHGHGHG"

hehe
