Hey all. Today I just bought a new graphics card. Is it good? What will my FPS be? Here is the specs:

Name: 3D Blaster 4 Titanium 4200

This is what it said on the package: We've taken Nvidias Geforce 4 Titanium Processor and combined it with 64MB of DDR memory clocked at 500MHz. to create a gamer's dream. IN addition to having the most complete featured set on the market featuring teh nfinite FX II engine, nviewdisplay technology, Lightspeed Memory Architecture II and Accuview Anti-aliasing, it also has incredible raw performance processing 4 billion AA samples per second and can perform an amazing 1.03 trillion operations per second. It also has TV out for multi screening.

So, your thoughts?

Its a GeForce 4 Ti 4200 and yes its good. Aslong as your processor is at least 1ghz and you got good ram, then you should get Very good FPS

So, I normally have 36% ram free while playing renegade in game. Although I have a memory leak problem so I optimized it and it went up to 45%. Is that enough. Im getting DSL in 2 weeks. Do you think renegade will still skip after playing for a little while after I get that vid card and dsl installed? How do I check if I have 1 mhz.

I just got the card installed today.... I went to a 30 player game and fps down to 20... my ram I THINK is ok... It had 30 to 40 percent free. Do u think getting DSL would help? Anyone know anything to help?? Please helppppp I really want to get PLanetside to get it to work good and I wanna snipe etter in renegade :9 Anyone know?

DSL will help, ur best test is to go into a single player practice and walk around and watch FPS

Snipesimo I did single player lan and I got around 100 fps on lowest detail. I then went up to full detail and it was in the 90's. I wish it was like that online. Does that tell you anything?? (I hope so)

This is a stupid Question. I should shoot you for asking if your gfx card is good. Why?

ITS CALLED RESEARCHING BEFORE YOU BUY! << Good Advice
