Dear everyone,

As of now, I am taking a temporary leave from the C&C: Renegade community. Stuff is happening to quickly for me too grasp hold of. I need time of to be able to soak up what has already ben given to me. This community has really flourished during all of this time I have ben involved, but it is beginning to go at a rate that I can't handle. I am taking at least 2-4 months off. I will still play this game online as much as I do right now, I just will not give my wallpaper or skin contributions to the community. When I get back, I will continue working and helping the community. For now, I am gone.

I don't care what you do to this topic, spam it up, flame it up, lock it up, I don't care. I am leaving and I will not return or post in this topic and I will not post in any other topic, or start my own for 2-4 months... Goodby.

Peace,
bigejoe14, mediocer wallpaper and skin maker.

Listen, fucknut, the entire team has been working on it for over eleven months.

I said it was close to being taken apart, not that it was. Learn to read, moron.
