The coolest thing I ever did was get everyone to buy a humvee and drive them of a cliff all at the same time

Me and 3 other guys did that with Buggies on "Desert Siege". One at a time though.

Racing those things in that map is FUN! There should be some kinda competition!

I would have to say getting lagged off the roadbridge on City_Flying, and landing on and killing 4 SBHs that were traveling together. In that same game, I managed to do a double-headshot with Havoc, shooting down into the Nod base from the left ramp.

I saw a humvee drive past the the area between the offramp and the Hand of Nod in City, the Hotwire hopped out to heal the humvee before it made a run at the Hand, so I lept off the ride of the offramp, while in-air headshot the hotwire. I landed behind the humvee, and the driver popped out. Dead. I took the humvee and yadda yadda yadda,..

I was once a Havoc at the Nod base on Mesa, on the side of the Nod Refinery, when I saw some Noddies running about at the Nod PP. Somehow I managed to kill 2 mutant Raveshaws with 1 headshot...

The funniest thing I ever saw was a guy who kept complaining after base-to-base attacks after we explained that, if you are attacking your enemy while outside your own base, it is not B2B. He kept on for about ten minutes...amazing. He didn't seem to grasp the idea of remote or timed C-4 on the MCT.
