Registered users of n00bstories will now notice a new feature unveiled in the Image Gallery. Folders!

Folders allow you to categorize your images to make it easier to find the one you're looking for. You can also make a folder "invisible" so that when someone else is looking at your Image Gallery, they won't see that folder in your list.

Look for the "Create/Edit Folders" link at the top of your Image Gallery to get started!

The Image Gallery is now 110% back online. I had made huge changes in the way the images are stored and retreived which has vastly improved efficiency and speed of the Image Gallery, and the site as a whole. Today I finished the last fixes including bitmap thumbnail creation and image embedding using the old image.fetch.php URL. These weren't working before, but now they are.

If you find ANY bugs with the Image Gallery, please let me know ASAP. Thanks!
