If you've found and killed the First officer already, the captain is at the OTHER end of the boat. Head there, and go up, up, up as much as you can.

Took me a while too.

ok if the first mate was on the bridge, the the captain should be as you said, on the opposite end of the boat, meaning the aft bridge, all the way by the engines, i am there all the way up as far as i can go, and its a ghost town, am i missing something? have three key cards, red yellow and green, clueless i know, used to be damn good at this till i hit 30, all down hill from there.

agian thanks,

You have all three, meaning you've already killed the Captain (he has the red key).

I had this problem when I went through a door that was opened by a Nod soldier. The only solution was to restart the mission and not go through a door unless I had the right key.
