Renegade has a stonger community than Generals. And you can tell. We have people that pretty much their whole life is to make Renegade better than what it is. While in the Generals community, there are still people that are unaware that EA-P made Generals and not WS.
:rolleyes:

I can't believe what they have done to C&C. I still remember four years ago when my friend first showed me C&C TD. I went over to media-play the next day and bought the very last copy of it that they had. They said they weren't getting anymore in. When I got home I played the first mission and it was kick ass. C&C TD is still the very best of all the C&Cs. This game is more classic than Final Fantasy 6.

Was your head up your ass when you read his reply?

He said the community could have made a better game [than westwood], and have by making it the best game around.

It would benefit yourself greatly if you would actually read a thread/reply through before jumping to conclusions and posting out of your ass.

i said the community could of made a better game than ea or westwood or whoever the hell made it.

and the community have made the game better by sticking with it and improving it with maps and mods etc.

if everyone who could mod well, and the community came up with the ideas, we ourselves could make renegade 2...3...etc.
