Read the about and faq of the Renegade Alert site (link in my sig)

It's a mod, but will be distributed as an expansion pack.

Now see, that's what the Longbow and Hind should look like. I think these are some of the most realistic model that I've ever seen. One suggestion though, on the Longbow, wasn't the radar dome on top of the rotor blades higher up instead of being attached to them? I don't know, just a thought.

As far as I know the new Apache AH64(whatever comes after it)
Has it enemy detection radar at top of rotorblades, so the can hide behind e.g. a hill, detect enemy's unhide, shoot and hide again if there mor enemy's maybe go back for relaod...
